VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS.

. . A . .

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT. To-morrow we will again observe th day set apart by all Christian peoples as a religious festival of great reverence and significance—the one day of the year when, especially, a feeling of brotherhood among men everywhere exists and charity prevails. It is an occasion of happiness for young and old alike, when all enjoy together the mutual pleasure of gift-giving and the spirit of good-wil which Christmas always causes.

The day is quite naturally associated with gift-giving. It is the season of "peace on earth, good will to men," and the good-will finds expression in a desire to please one's friends, as by gifts. Christmas is real only to those who are filled with the spirit of Christmas, and these, whether rich or poor, find it a season of unailoyed pleasure for themseives and their friends. They follow custom, it is true, but not merely be cause it is the custom. Their hearts go with their gifts, and it is the sentimen of good-will that gives value to their presents. The intrinsic value of their gifts is of no importance to themselves or to the recipients of their favors. The gift itself is symbolical of their love, and whether it be costly or otherwise it is valued not for itself alone, but for the sentiment it embodies. The formal gift presented as a matter of duty or because custom requires its presentation posses no other value than the price put upon it in the stores; the gift of affection has a value in sentiment that cannot be meas ured in dollars and cents.

No one should be discouraged from the effort to observe the sentiment of the Christmas season by poverty or riches. If his heart is filled with the Christmas spirit, he can find means of giving it expression in suitable gifts which will be understood and appreciated by all worthy people.

The pupils of Xavier Institute last Friday evening rendered one of the most pleasing Christinas entertainments that have been given for several years. The stage and a part of the floor space immediatery in front of the stage were given up to the children. The audience crowded the ball, including the gallery.

The program began with an entranc march, in which all the pupils, about 150 monoiber, took part. They went through intricate figures without a bitch and in a manner that delighted the onlookers. The girls were dressed in blue with tonches of white, while the boys were attired in white duck trousers and shirt waists. The third number was the free hand exercises by twenty of the older girls and boys. They went through all man ner of gymnastic motions and Delsarto poses. Sr. M. Teresa trained the unnils in these exercises. The Boye' Club Class, eight boys, gave an exhibition of club ewinging. The rest of the program was as follows: "Merry Christmas" - Chorus-by the Primary Grades. Piano Solo, Misa Estelle Codori.

"Praise Ye the Father"-Chorus-b the Senior Grades. A piano duet-"The Witches' Flight"-Misses Maude Kumple and Mabel Myers. "Christmas Greetings", by the Intermediate Grades.

Piano Solo, Miss Zita Becker. "Noel"-Chorus-Senior Grades, Piano Trio, by Misses Annie Wieotzkey, Marie Stock and Zua Becker. Finale-A Christmas Scene.

In this last number the curtain rose on a Christmas scene very pretifly arranged.
In the background was a large tree, loaded with toys and decorations appropriate to the occasion, and on either hand trees similarly decorated. Sauta Claus dashed:

MONEY IN FARMING

J A Money, a young farmer of Kent that there is still money to be made on the farm. Off five and a half acres of land Mr. Money sold and delivered a fraction over 581 ons of tomatoes, or an average of over 11 tons per acre. The fruit was contracted for at 85 per ton by the local camery, which gives a total of 3351 56. Had Mr. Money not contracted and had been at liberty to sell his corp at an average price of 25 cents per basket as was done by many kent county farm erg, his tomatoes would have sold for 8577 30. In addition to his tomato crop Mr. Mr. wy mased 1800 bushels of wheat, will have about 2500 bushels of wheat, will have about 2500 bushels of wheat, will have about 2500 bushels of corn, it deed to be a strong and attended the local creamery regularly. county, Maryland, gives figures to show
